

Innovative Education and Management

Our education system has served us well but as we move into a new era, we must be responsive to changing needs. This requires us to be innovative about our teaching methods and management.

A new era of quality education through innovative school-based initiatives and school-based management

Initiatives	Benefits
We will set up a $5 billion Quality Education Development Fund to provide funds on a project basis, such as piloting new teaching and learning methods; new school management initiatives; extra-curricular activities and educational researches into key areas.	✓ This will provide much greater incentives for innovation and diversification in developing quality education programmes and promote students' all-round development.
We will require all schools to practise school-based management; draw up school plans and achievement targets; publish annual reports and put in place a fair and open appraisal system for teachers. Schools will also have more flexibility and autonomy in the usage of funds.	✓ This will enhance the flexibility, transparency and accountability of school management, and hence the overall quality of school education.
